

Miranda Graham – LMS / Digital Learning Practice

Selected examples of digital learning resources, learner enablement, accessible content and online learning activities developed through my professional practice.

These work samples demonstrate experience in designing, organising, supporting and improving accessible online and blended learning for diverse adult learners.

Selected capabilities demonstrated:

- Digital learner onboarding and platform support
- LMS organisation and learning pathway design
- Online, blended and asynchronous learning
- Accessible and inclusive digital learning
- Collaborative and social learning
- Digital content and e-learning development
- Assessment, differentiated learning and learner independence

Digital Learner Onboarding

Platform: Moodle

Created a short screencast guiding learners through uploading a Moodle profile photo. Learners could pause and replay the demonstration outside live lessons, reducing reliance on repeated individual support.

Learner Onboarding Guide

Platform: Moodle

Created a step-by-step illustrated guide using annotated screenshots and short, sequenced instructions to help adult learners navigate Moodle and complete their first asynchronous task independently.

Task 1 – Who's Who?

Task	Who's Who
Aim	To introduce yourself to and find out about the other participants on the course, by completing your Moodle profile.
Time	20 minutes, approximately

This task has 3 short parts.

Part 1: Find the Profiles Section

First, on the right hand side of our main Moodle page, look for the 'Navigation' block.

- Click on 'My Courses'.
- Then click on 'ESOL Entry 3 214A'.
- Finally, click on 'Participants'.
- Now click on my name and read my profile.

You will write something similar about yourself, to introduce yourself to the group.

[To get to the main course page after reading your tutor's profile, click on 'ESOL Entry 3 214A' in the line across the top that says 'My courses > ESOL Entry 3 214A > Participants'.]

Asynchronous Learner Onboarding Activity

Platform: Moodle

Used a simple learner-profile activity to introduce discussion tools in a purposeful context. Learners practised locating the forum, posting information and reading other participants' contributions.

Me, Myself and I

Task	Me, Myself and I
Aim	To introduce yourself to and find out about other participants on your course, by posting a short text about yourself to the forum.
Time	20-30 Minutes, approximately

In this task, you are going to write a short profile about yourself (no more than 100 words max). The aim of this task is to help you to get to know each other better – important for working online together and for creating a feeling community because we cannot meet face-to-face. Feedback on your writing will not be given on posts in forums as the aim is to get to know and communicate with each other. Accuracy really isn't important here.

Follow these steps to complete the task:

Part 1

Prepare a short profile about yourself. Include general information such as:

Your hobbies Your occupation Your studies Your family/friends Where you live

Include too, something interesting or unusual about yourself that no-one will really know about you.

Part 2

Log in to Moodle with your personal Username and Password.

First, on the right hand side of our main Moodle course page, look for the 'Navigation' block.

Click on 'My Courses', then 'ESOL E3 Online 236c'.

Go to 'Week 1: Welcome'.

Then go to the forum 'Me, Myself and I' (<https://learn.marywardcentre.ac.uk/mod/forum/view.php?id=16443>)

Asynchronous Discussion Activity

Platform: Moodle

Designed a structured Moodle discussion activity combining learner guidance and visual prompts to help learners practise uploading an image, contributing to a forum and responding to classmates.

Where in the World?

Aim

- To use a Moodle discussion forum for getting to know other students on your course.
- To practise uploading an image to Moodle.
- To practise asking and answering questions in the past simple on the topic of holidays.

Task 1: Stimulus

Log in to Moodle with your personal Username and Password.

Navigate to ESOL E3 Online 236c 2019/20

Navigate to "Week 5".

Go to the Discussion Forum called "Where in the World?"

Click on the link to open the Discussion Forum.

When the Discussion Forum opens, click on "Miranda's Picture" to open my discussion.

When you open the "Miranda's Picture" discussion, you will see my post shown below.

Here is a photo I took of a place I went to about 12 years ago.

Everyone has to post one question about this photo. I will answer your questions.

You cannot repeat the same question, so pay attention to what the others have written.

Post your questions by Thursday 18th June.

Scroll down the page and under the photo you will see a link "Reply".

Differentiated Asynchronous Learning

Platform: Google Classroom

Within a shared Google Classroom used by two Entry 3 classes, I organised weekly materials, homework and independent-study activities using consistent titles and topic sections. I also designed differentiated video-based activities across three proficiency levels, supporting independent study and extending classroom learning.

Content Curation & Accessible Learning

Platform: Google Classroom

Curated authentic, real-world digital resources, including an online video and article, and designed structured activities around them to develop listening, reading and independent study skills.

Assessment Literacy & Accessible Learning

Platform: Google Classroom

Designed a catch-up learning activity combining accessible exam-board materials, clear success criteria and self-evaluation, enabling learners to prepare independently and understand how their work would be assessed.

⋮

1) Click the link to Nasrat's video on the Trinity College website.

- Accessibility: CC for subtitles, text icon for transcript, speech speed 0.75 in settings.

2) Watch the video "Entry 3 - Nasrat" from 3. 02 - 5.07.

- Using the "Task 2 Success Criteria" attachment, listen to Nasrat and assess him against the success criteria. How do we know if Narat is listening to the Examiner and understands what she is saying? What comments and/or questions does Nasrat say to the Examiner to show this? Check the transcript and think about the language he uses.

Learning Pathway Design

Platform: Canvas

Organised the course into clearly labelled weekly modules containing onboarding, resources, vocabulary practice, differentiated homework, discussion activities and extension work. I used completion requirements, including Mark as done, to scaffold independent learning and guide learners through a structured pathway. Selected later activities remained locked until learners completed the relevant earlier requirements, giving them a clear sequence through required and level-appropriate learning.

Social Learning Design

Platform: Canvas

Designed a multi-stage social learning activity for 19 Entry 3 ESOL learners. Learners introduced themselves, responded to a reflective question and then exchanged follow-up questions with an allocated classmate. All 19 learners completed the initial activity, and the discussion generated 71 replies, creating genuine learner-to-learner interaction rather than a series of isolated posts. Recurring access problems nevertheless affected a small number of learners, so I later moved the course to Google Classroom to provide more reliable and supportable access.

Welcome to the Discussions page!

Welcome to our course! This is your first task.

Post a quick introduction to yourself. Tell us about you: where you are from, what you do, where you live, etc.

Please also include the answer to ONE of these questions:

- What is your favourite place in the whole world?
- What are your two most precious possessions?
- What is something that you are very proud of?

Please post these as replies to this post. Don't reply to anybody else's post right now, just answer the questions, OK?

Thanks, everyone! Now read what the others in the group posted. Then look at the names in your class below.

Find the name of the person BELOW you. You are going to ask that person two or three questions about their introduction.

Please do this by replying to their introduction post.

E3 Morning Class	E3 Afternoon Class
1.	1.
2.	2.
3.	3.
4.	4.
5.	5.
6.	6.
7.	7.
8.	8.
9.
10.
11.

Check back on the discussion often. If someone asks you a question about your introduction, please answer them as a reply to their question.

If you are the last person in your group class list, then you ask the first person on the list.

Please post your questions by Thursday, 25th September. All questions should be answered by Monday, 29th September.

Accessibility: Supporting Access to Video Learning

Platform: Canvas

Gave learners a choice of short explanatory videos and clearly identified the quickest starting point. I included simple accessibility guidance explaining how to enable subtitles, reduce the playback speed and select a video with key language displayed on screen. I labelled the additional video activity as optional, allowing learners to choose whether they wanted further support or challenge.

Extra Challenge: Zero Conditional

This task is optional.

If you'd like to go further with grammar, try the zero conditional.

Here are three short videos (all under 4 minutes).

1. Start with the first one-minute video.
2. Then, if you'd like more detail, watch one or both of the others.

Accessibility Tips:

- Click the gear icon (⚙️ Settings) to turn on subtitles.
- Slow the video down (eg, 0.75 speed) if the speech feels too fast.
- The third video also has key sentences written on screen to help you follow the grammar.

Interactive Practice and Retrieval

Platform: Canvas with embedded Quizlet and Wordwall

Embedded Quizlet and Wordwall activities within Canvas to provide low-stakes, gamified practice with immediate feedback. Quizlet supported vocabulary retrieval, while the timed Wordwall matching activity checked understanding of the zero conditional before learners applied the structure in their own sentences.

Well done!

You've explored the zero conditional and checked your understanding.

Before you finish, write 2–3 example zero conditional sentences in your notebook.

(This will help you remember the structure and give you your own examples to use in class.)

Collaborative Research and Resource Curation

Platform: Padlet

Designed a collaborative Padlet activity where learners researched, curated and shared multimedia resources, encouraging investigation, peer learning and independent enquiry.

Collaborative Digital Project Work

Platform: Google Slides (Zoom)

Designed a collaborative Google Slides project where learners co-created travel blurbs, added multimedia and presented their work to the class, developing collaboration, digital literacy and authentic communication skills.
