

Miranda Graham – Portfolio of Digital Learning Practice

This portfolio contains selected examples of digital learning resources, learner support materials and online learning activities developed throughout my professional practice. It demonstrates experience in designing, supporting and improving accessible online and blended learning for diverse adult learners.

Selected capabilities demonstrated:

- Digital learner onboarding and platform support
- Online and blended learning design
- Asynchronous and collaborative learning
- Learning pathway and discussion design
- Accessibility and digital inclusion
- Digital content development
- Retrieval practice and learner engagement
- Differentiated and independent learning
- Assessment literacy
- Interactive e-learning authoring

Digital Learner Onboarding

Platform: Moodle

Screencast tutorial guiding learners through uploading a Moodle profile photo, supporting digital confidence and independent use of the platform.

Learner Onboarding Guide

Platform: Moodle

Step-by-step illustrated guide combining annotated screenshots, clear instructions and staged tasks to help adult learners navigate Moodle and participate confidently in their first asynchronous task.

Task 1 – Who's Who?

Task	Who's Who
Aim	To introduce yourself to and find out about the other participants on the course, by completing your Moodle profile.
Time	20 minutes, approximately

This task has 3 short parts.

Part 1: Find the Profiles Section

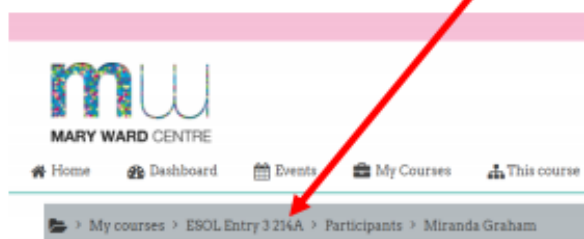

First, on the right hand side of our main Moodle page, look for the 'Navigation' block.

- Click on 'My Courses'.
- Then click on 'ESOL Entry 3 214A'.
- Finally, click on 'Participants'.
- Now click on my name and read my profile.

You will write something similar about yourself, to introduce yourself to the group.

[To get to the main course page after reading your tutor's profile, click on 'ESOL Entry 3 214A' in the line across the top that says 'My courses > ESOL Entry 3 214A > Participants'.]

Learner Onboarding Guide

Platform: Moodle

Designed a step-by-step illustrated Moodle guide combining annotated screenshots, clear instructions and a learner profile activity to support learners' independent participation in their first asynchronous discussion.

Me, Myself and I

Task	Me, Myself and I
Aim	To introduce yourself to and find out about other participants on your course, by posting a short text about yourself to the forum.
Time	20-30 Minutes, approximately

In this task, you are going to write a short profile about yourself (no more than 100 words max). The aim of this task is to help you to get to know each other better – important for working online together and for creating a feeling community because we cannot meet face-to-face. Feedback on your writing will not be given on posts in forums as the aim is to get to know and communicate with each other. Accuracy really isn't important here.

Follow these steps to complete the task:

Part 1

Prepare a short profile about yourself. Include general information such as:

Your hobbies Your occupation Your studies Your family/friends Where you live

Include too, something interesting or unusual about yourself that no-one will really know about you.

Part 2

Log in to Moodle with your personal Username and Password.

First, on the right hand side of our main Moodle course page, look for the 'Navigation' block.

Click on 'My Courses', then 'ESOL E3 Online 236c'.

Go to 'Week 1: Welcome'.

Then go to the forum 'Me, Myself and I' (<https://learn.marywardcentre.ac.uk/mod/forum/view.php?id=16443>)

Part 4

You can look at the profiles of your colleagues on this course. Note that your colleagues will be logging on during this first few days of the course, so not all profiles will be done immediately. Although I would like you all to do your profiles as early as possible during this week.

Come back to the Profiles often, see who has joined our class and leave comments.

Asynchronous Discussion Activity

Platform: Moodle

Designed a structured Moodle discussion activity combining learner guidance, visual prompts and peer interaction to develop communication skills and build confidence in asynchronous learning.

Where in the World?

Aim

- To use a Moodle discussion forum for getting to know other students on your course.
- To practise uploading an image to Moodle.
- To practise asking and answering questions in the past simple on the topic of holidays.

Task 1: Stimulus

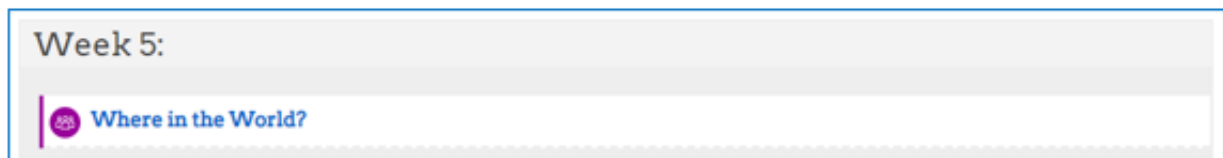

Log in to Moodle with your personal Username and Password.

Navigate to ESOL E3 Online 236c 2019/20

Welcome to the Discussions page!

Welcome to our course! This is your first task.

Post a quick introduction to yourself. Tell us about you: where you are from, what you do, where you live, etc.

Please also include the answer to ONE of these questions:

- What is your favourite place in the whole world?
- What are your two most precious possessions?
- What is something that you are very proud of?

Please post these as replies to this post. Don't reply to anybody else's post right now, just answer the questions, OK?
